Geode Stoneware Collection Designed by Jono Pandolfi

Jono Pandolfi

Jono Pandolfi has produced hand-hewn, custom culinary ceramics for top chefs and restaurants all over the world for more than 10 years. His rustic-chic aesthetic aligns with the current passion for casualization. Chefs value his collaborative style and his ability to understand what they find “cool” and “awesome.” Jono finds much of his inspiration from the world of geology and by listening to chefs. He and his staff of assistants design in a 3,000-square-foot studio in Union City, NJ, overlooking stunning views of the New York City skyline.

Geode Stoneware Collection

Inspired by the Greek Geode definition “shape of the earth,” the designs feature clean and simple shapes with slight handmade touches. The Geode collection successfully combines an artisanal look with industrial strength. Each member of this seven-piece collection is dishwasher-safe, stackable for easy storage and can withstand the challenges of professional service. Each piece features a smooth glaze providing added protection as well as a sleek blank canvas to display the chefs edible art.

“Geode interprets the needs of the chef and remains true to their vision.”

“The mission of Geode is to capture an earthy feel, to create a handcrafted aesthetic that complements the chef’s handcrafted dishes.”

“Geode illustrates the same passion for perfection as chefs.”

The Stoneware that Sets Tables for Today

“The look and feel is artisanal, but the strength is industrial.”
